Re: Telcordia Technologies, Inc. v. Cisco Systems, Inc.
C.A. No. 04-876 (GMS)

Dear Chief Judge Sleet:

I write to bring to Your Honor's attention two Orders by Administrative Law Judge Charneski last Friday, July 27, in the parallel ITC proceeding brought by Telcordia against Cisco. In Order No. 36 (Ex. A), Judge Charneski continued the ITC evidentiary hearing from August 27, 2007 until February 25, 2008 based on the pendency of the post-trial motions in this action, noting that the resolution of those motions "will undoubtedly have an impact" on the ITC investigation, "could obviate the need for an evidentiary hearing" and at the very least "will better frame the issues to be tried at the evidentiary hearing." (Ex. A at 3). He noted the "unacceptable risk that there will be inconsistent rulings and a waste of private and judicial resources." (Id. at 4). In Order No. 37 (Ex. B), Judge Charneski directed that Telcordia's motion for summary determination based upon this Court's Judgment would be "held in abeyance" until Your Honor rules on the post-trial motions. (Ex. B at 2).

Respectfully,

Jack B. Blumenfeld (#1014)
